OGONTZ AND ASHBOURNE

FINE MOTOR CAR BURNED.

Township Commissioner Stahr Meets
With Loss on Road.

John A. Stahr, a commissioner of Cheltenham township, and a resident of Elkins Park, had a close call from being hurled, when his automobile took fire on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Stahr was riding by himself in his large seven-passenger Winton touring car, going at a moderate speed along Rock Lane, just back of Ogontz school. He heard a grinding noise and looking down at his feet, saw a blaze coming through the cracks in the floor through which the pedals work. Without waiting to stop the engine he threw on his emergency brake and jumped out of the car just as a sheet of flame shot up from the floor and hood of the automobile.

As Mr. Stahr carries a key of the police call boxes and is familiar with their location about the township, he ran to the nearest box and telephoned to Chief Lindsay, who in turn telephoned to the Pioneer Fire Company of Jenkintown, who responded at a lively pace and the Chief was on hand as quickly as possible with hand extinguishers. Through the efforts of the fire company, the fire was finally gotten out, but only after the forepart of the automobile, including the motor and gear box, was destroyed and the rest of the machine burned so severely that the whole car is a total loss. The car cost Mr. Stahr $4500 and was insured for $2500.

The fire did not reach his gasoline tank, which held 22 gallons, but his acetylene generator exploded.

LOU TOOK 'EM ALL A-RIDING.

L. A. Nagle is noted for his kind heartedness. There is scarcely a week that he has not taken injured people to the hospital, or done some act of charity with his automobile. Last week, however, broke all records, when he took 125 passengers, who were attending the picnic of St. Andrew's Episcopal mission, of McKinley, for a ride. Mr. Nagle happened to be passing Thompson's grove, on New Second street, when he was requested to take some of the children for an automobile ride. The first trip was such a success that he finally took out everybody who attended the picnic, young and old, big and little. The average trip was about twelve miles, and Mr. Nagle spent from 10 o'clock in the morning until night fall.

POLICE NEWS.

The police court on Wednesday night was crowded when the case of Jennings versus Jennings was being tried before Squire Haines.

All the parties are colored and live at Lakewood. The affair took place while the family was dining, and it is claimed that Jennings threw a glass at William J. Jackson, cutting his arm. Jackson, who is a cripple, and only gets about on crutches, was unable to defend himself and his brother, Obie, took up his case and struck Jennings, whereupon Jennings stabbed Obie Jackson with a pen knife.

Both the Jacksons were taken to the Jewish hospital, and Jennings was placed under arrest. Squire held both Obie Jackson and Jennings under $500 bail for their appearance at court. Bail was furnished.

Miss Agnes Gunning has returned from a stay at Lenni, Delaware county.

Bart McEwen returned to Ashbourne, after spending a couple of months at Eugene, Oregon.

Samuel Washington, colored, of Jenkintown, was struck by a timber, measuring six by six inches, and of considerable length, while at work at the building operation on the York road near Township line, on Saturday. He was taken to the Jewish hospital by L. A. Nagle in his automobile.

Mr. Joseph Bosler left on Friday for an automobile trip to Bangley Lakes, Maine. She will accompany W. H. Birchell and family, of New York.

A northbound trolley car on York road, struck a team belonging to R. S. Craven, of Ashbourne, on Saturday last, at the Cheltenham avenue crossing. The driver was not injured nor was the wagon much broken.

William Mills, hostler at Tyson's hotel, was kicked by a horse, belonging to Mr. Tyson, and was taken to the Jewish hospital by Sergeant Morris, of the Cheltenham police, where it was found he was suffering with severe cuts and bruises about the forehead.

STATE WILL INVESTIGATE
DESTRUCTION OF MILK.

The State Railroad Commission plans to investigate milk shipments to Philadelphia. The inquiry is upon complaint of an uptown milk dealer that the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad does not furnish refrigerator cars for the transportation of milk on short hauls, with the result that milk shipped to him has been destroyed by the Bureau of Health because it reached here at a higher temperature than 50 degrees.

The Reading Railway Company persistently refuses to put on refrigerator cars.

SHE FELL DOWN STAIRS
AND WAS BADLY HURT.

Mrs. Joseph Rouff, of Roosevelt avenue, Edge Hill, fell down the cellar stairs at her residence on Tuesday and was so badly injured that she was taken to the Jewish hospital, where beside being considerably bruised, she had a badly sprained ankle.

BEAUTY AND HISTORY OF BURHOLME PARK

Former Ryerss Mansion Near Fox Chase a Favorite Picnic Place—Has Museum and Library—Beautiful Views—Grounds are Popular as Outing Place.

When Robert Waln Ryerss bequeathed to the city his country residence known as Burholme, together with 49 acres of land immediately surrounding it, on the line dividing Philadelphia and Montgomery counties, near Fox Chase, he probably had no idea that he was providing the people of Philadelphia with one of their favorite picnic grounds. Indeed, it would appear that his purpose was simply to open the historic and beautiful grounds to those who had been his neighbors in life, giving them access to his splendid library and the right to enjoy the many interesting relics and curios which had been collected by the family during its 40 years of residence on the place. Until the time of his death, the country surrounded Burholme could not be reached from the city by electric cars, and Mr. Ryerss undoubtedly did not guess that the people of the city would be attracted there for years to come.

And yet, though the grounds have been open to the public less than four years, and the library and museum into which the mansion has been converted are just entering their second year, Burholme Park, as it has been named, is already becoming one of the most popular family and Sunday school picnic grounds in and about Philadelphia.

Not is that remarkable, for from the standpoint of natural beauty the place is, and was for many years during the occupancy of the Ryerss family, an ideal park site. For a long time the grounds had been universally admired for its beauty, and it may well be that the expressions of this admiration that often must have come to his ears, first put it in the mind of Mr. Ryerss to give to the people forever the right to enjoy it without restraint. With the fine old mansion set high on the crest of a hill in the center of grounds studded with splendid maples and pines, and approached by a beautiful avenue of trees, Burholme was for two generations one of the sights of its neighborhood. It was also famed for the wonderful view of the surrounding country which the observatory of the mansion afforded.

The beauty of the place, and the

MRS. GORDON DYING

Woman Who Was Hacked by Her Husband at Willow Grove, in Bad Way.

As we are going to press, the condition of the Gordons, husband and wife, who are at the Jewish hospital, is reported as follows:

William Gordon, who is supposed to have hacked his wife with an axe, and then turned the axe on himself, inflicting severe wounds, is recovering from his injuries and is expected to be able to leave the hospital some time the early part of next week. He is being watched night and day by an officer from the Abington police department.

Mrs. Gordon is reported to be below lying and it is expected that spinal meningitis will set in at any time and take her off. She is now suffering in intense pain and is unconscious most of the time. If she dies Gordon will be held for murder under the first degree.

These are the people from South Jersey, who created such a scene at the home of Moore Krier, at Willow Grove, a couple of weeks ago.

THE HORSE HE DIDN'T BUY

January Almost Knocked Off the Calendar When His Horse Kicked.

January Deal, the Italian baker at Edge Hill, hitched up a horse that was given him for trial to his baker wagon, one day recently.

The animal started off nicely until he got into the neighborhood of Ardley when he started kicking and prancing and knocked January out of the wagon, hitting his knees and hands. The horse ran down Roberts avenue to Glenside, where it collided with a wagon of Robert Scott, a resident of Waverly road, bending the axle of the Scott wagon. The horse was captured by Mr. Worthington, liverman of Glenside, and was brought back to Edge Hill.

Outside of a few scratches and small cuts the horse was uninjured and the wagon was little the worse for its trip.

WILLOW GROVE NEWS.

RUSSIAN SYMPHONY
ORCHESTRA PLEAS

That music lovers of Philadelphia and vicinity are genuine in their appreciation of high class music was shown during the past two weeks by the increased attendance at Willow Grove Park. Practically after the first concert by the Russian Symphony Orchestra they were stamped as a popular favorite. The numbers selected by Leader Altshuler, demonstrates the fact that he knows how to please the people. He is also extremely liberal with his encores.

Nikolai Sokoloff, the Concert Master and violin soloist of the Russian Symphony Orchestra is a performer of rare ability and his interpretation of such pieces as the "Frisse Song" from the Meistersinger and "Socievir De Moskou" stamp him as one of the foremost virtuosi of the country.

Leader Altshuler has arranged several programs. Friday night, July 28th will be a combination of Wagner and Tchaikowsky programs, and on Monday night, July 31st, Beethoven's Fifth Symphony will be played.

Seldom if ever before have Philadelphia had the opportunity to hear such a liberal selection of the great works as have been arranged for next week.

Thursday was childrens day at Willow Grove Park and one of the largest crowds of children which ever attended this annual event was present. Between the hours of 11 and 1 p. m. the amusements were free to the little ones.

At 2 p. m. a large chorus of children, under the direction of H. C. Lincoln, participated in a great musical festival which included the rendition of a number of national airs. At the conclusion of the musical festival souvenirs were distributed among the thousands of children present.

D. W. Stoner died on Saturday evening at St. Luke's hospital, Philadelphia, in the 49th year of his age. Mr. Stoner, who had been ill for four weeks, was taken to the hospital on Thursday of last week, and was suffering with a complication of heart and kidney diseases and was conscious to the end. He leaves a widow and three children, son, William B. and two daughters, Williamina and Charlene. The Stoners have been residents of Willow Grove for about twelve years. He was a member of the Artisan's Lodge. The funeral services were held from his late residence on the York road, in front of the Willow Grove M. E. church, and Revs. Mr. Sweet, of Langhorne, and W. S. Dawson, of Gilberton, Pa., former ministers at the Willow Grove church, conducted the services. Burial Miller sang a solo. The family received many floral offerings from friends and organizations connected with the church.

James Rush, son of J. L. Rush, of Davidsville road, left on Tuesday for an extended trip to Boies City, Iowa.

Miss Beatie Kates returned home early in the week after spending some time with relatives in New Jersey. On Wednesday she entertained several of her girl friends.

A camping party left Willow Grove on Friday under the name of The Mercury Outing Club. They will spend three weeks at Bertieton, Md. Those who are members of the club are: James and Charles Rush, Walter Bolleau, R. C. Mahan, Raymond Crawford, Raymond Baltz and William Wilson.

Mr. Joseph Stortensbecker died at her home on Welsh road on Thursday, after a brief illness of pneumonia. She was 42 years old and was known to a large circle of friends. Mr. Stortensbecker has the sympathy of all who know him. The funeral services will be held this afternoon, Saturday, from her home. Interment at Hatboro cemetery.

George Hellingas and family moved from Philadelphia to Willow Grove this week.

The regular monthly meeting of the fire company was held on Thursday night, when it was decided to purchase more hose.

The Willow Grove base ball club will play the All Scholastic Club, of Philadelphia, this Saturday on the home ground.

Rufus Brown, colored, of Crestmont, an employee at the Romig brick works, was arrested by Officer Messer of the Abington police force, and held under $500 bail for his appearance at Norristown court, at a hearing before Squire Kentner on Tuesday. Brown is accused on a serious charge by a young colored girl, of Willow Grove.

FIRE IN WARBURTON HOME

York Road House Damaged by Flames
Confined to Third Floor.

A slight fire in the home of Barclay H. Warburton, on Old York road, near Jenkintown, created great excitement last Thursday night. The clanging of the fire engines from Kenilworth, Elkins Park, Ogontz, Abington, McKimley, Glenside and Weldon attracted a throng of spectators.

As the engines dashed along the various roads leading to the Warburton estate they were joined by residents of the vicinity in automobiles, and a score of machines were quickly on the scene partially blocking traffic on York road for almost an hour.

A defective fuse was the cause of the blaze, which was confined to the third floor. Mr. Warburton supervised the work of the firemen, and would not permit the use of water in extinguishing the flames, depending upon chemicals to do the work.

William Schwartz, one of the fire fighters, son of Charles Schwartz, president of the Town Council of Jenkintown, fell from a chimney to a roof and was painfully injured.

Dr. Horace P. Keely, of Schwenkill, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for treasurer of Montgomery county.

CITY WILL SPEND MILLIONS

For New Charitable Institutions in Byberry and Nearby.

The plans for the construction of the new Home for the Indigent at Holmesburg have been placed in the hands of Dr. Joseph S. Neff, Director of the Philadelphia Department of Health and Charities, and are awaiting his approval.

The plans have been prepared by Philip H. Johnson, the architect, and will be gone over by Dr. Neff and John A. Vogleson, the Chief of the Bureau of Health, and next week by Mayor Reyer. There is available $400,000 for the construction of this building, which will be erected on the old Kensington race track property, immediately adjoining the House of Correction, at Holmesburg.

The building will be for indigent men only, but plans are now being prepared for a building for indigent women. This is to be located on the 125-acre tract near Torresdale, acquired by the city and known as the Alexander Brown estate. This building and a home for feeble-minded women and children will be built upon this tract.

This group of buildings will all be adjacent to the House of Correction, and it is the plan to enlarge the light, heat and power plant of this institution and make it serve for all the municipal buildings in that section.

Dr. Neff outlined the plan. "We will remove from Blockley both the indigent men and women and the insane," he explained. "The indigent men we will place in a building located on fifty-five acres of the old driving park adjacent to the House of Correction. The indigent women and the feeble-minded women and children will be placed in separate buildings on the Brown tract. Now it is proposed to use these several city properties as follows:

"Upon the Byberry tract the establishment of the Philadelphia Hospital for the Insane. The eventual estimated cost is about $5,000,000. The ground adjoining the House of Correction for indigent men. Upon the Brown property will be established the institution for the care of the Feeble-Minded and on another part a home for indigent women. It is planned to furnish the best light, heat and power for all these institutions. From the power plants now operating in connection with the House of Correction and the Torresdale low-lift pumping station.

"Under this plan the indigent men and women will be cared for in widely separated localities, and the institutions for the care of the feeble-minded and of the insane will be divorced from these sociological elements, as well as from the city's general hospitals for the treatment of disease and physical injury."

FINE HOUSE AT FT. WASHINGTON

C. E. Schermerhorn, architect, 430 Walnut street, Philadelphia, has awarded the contract for the erection of a residence at Fort Washington, Pa., for Gustave C. Kuemmerle, to Burd P. Evans & Company, Inc.

The house, which has been designed in early English, will measure 65x35, with a rear extension 30x25. First floor will be constructed of Chestnut Hill stone, the second floor and gable walls will be of brick stucco with half timber pieces applied. The roof will be of graduated and variegated green and purple slate. A large reception hall which runs clear through the first floor will be finished in quartered white oak and will have paneled walls and ornamental plastered ceilings, which will be continued up to the second floor. The first floor also contains a large library, dining room, pantry, toilet, kitchen, servants' room and solarium. The main rooms will be finished in white enamel, the kitchen portion will be finished in chestnut; the solarium and porch floors will be tiled. Wood and tile mantels are provided in the reception hall and library and the solarium has a stone fireplace. The second floor contains four chambers, two bath rooms, linen closet and wardrobe; third floor contains guests' room, servants' room, trunk room and two bath rooms. The first and second floors will have parquet flooring. The bath rooms, kitchen and pantry will be tiled. The house will be lighted with gas and electric lighting and will also contain a complete burglar alarm system. Coal and water heating and built in refrigerator, water heating apparatus, etc., will be included.

MERRY FOX FARM SOLD.

Two large plots of ground in the forty-second ward have just been sold for development. S. C. Abernethy has purchased for A. H. Frontstell the plot of ground at the northeast corner of Old York road and Rumscomb street from the Stehle estate for $18,500. The lot measures $1104 feet and is assessed for $4500.

Mary N. Logan has sold the Merry

Fox Farm, comprising about six acres of land, on the south side of Fisher's lane, near Fifteenth street, to S. C. Abernethy for about $25,000. The assessed value at farm and city rates totals $20,000.

C. F. Beaumont, the real estate broker of Doylestown, sold to John Lyon, of Buckingham, his 65-acre farm to E. Claude Erwin, of Panama, at private figures.

The 53-acre farm of Frank Statler, situated near St. Leonard's station in Northampton township, has been sold by Horace G. Reeder to T. R. Owens of Panama. Possession to be given April 1st, 1912.

Plans have been completed by Henry L. Reinhold, Jr., for the new town Public Library to be known as the Joseph Barnes Free Reading Room, to be erected on the southwest corner of Congress avenue and Center street, Newtown, Pa.

A farm of forty-four acres, on Church road beyond Chestnut Hill, has been sold by Edgar C. Cross, for John N. and George W. Shriver and Mrs. Sarah C. Sorber, to a purchaser whose name is withheld. It will be improved by the purchaser by the erection of a handsome country house.

The large stone residence with two acres of ground at the southwest corner of Upal and Jefferson streets, Germantown, has been sold by B. B. Lister & Son, real estate brokers, for Mrs. Catharine Craig. The purchaser's name is withheld. The assessed valuation of the property for the present year is $55,000.

One of the finest properties in the Reading suburban section at Langhorne, belonging to Oliver H. Hagerman, General Superintendent of the Reading Railway at Port Richmond, has been sold by Arthur P. Townsend, realty broker, Langhorne, to Richard A. Foley, of Chestnut Hill. Mr. Foley will take immediate possession.

The Wilmer Atkinson Printing Company, publishers of The Farm Journal, will proceed at once with the erection of a five-story printing house on the site now occupied by the old Orange street Meeting House, at West Washington square and Locust street. The building which has been designed by Bunting & Shrigley, architects, will have a frontage of 145 feet and a depth of 140 feet. It will cost $155,000. A contract has just been made with George Watson & Son for its erection.

Orange Street Meeting House was purchased about two years ago by Wilmer Atkinson, from the Society of Friends, for a consideration of $80,000.

Henry C. Biddle, real estate broker, of Atlantic reports, the following: Sold for John P. Conly his farm containing about one hundred acres, adjoining the borough of North Wales, on a road leading from North Wales to Morris road, called Walnut street, to Harry C. Francis, Jr., of Philadelphia, at private figures. Mr. Francis will take possession sometime in October and make various changes and improvements. This is one of the finest farms in that section. Sold for Edward H. Phipps his farm recently purchased from John W. Armstrong, situate on a road leading from Butler turnpike to Norristown, in Whitpain township, to Theodore E. Wentz, of Germantown, who will take possession on or before September 1st and improve the property. Sold the Hindman property on Lansdowne avenue, Ambler, to Fritz B. Smith, of Philadelphia. This is one of the finest properties on that avenue. Mr. Smith will take possession some time in August and make it his permanent home.

When you speak kindly of anyone, some people believe you have been bribed.

Prevent and Relieve Headache

"It gives me great pleasure to be able to refer to Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills as the best remedy we have yet had in our house for the prevention and cure of headache. My wife who has been a constant sufferer for a number of years with above complaint joins me in the hope that they may fall into the hands of all sufferers."

JOHN BUSH, Watervliet, Me.
 Used Them Four Years.

"Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are the best I ever tried for the relief of headache. I have used them for nearly four years and they never fail to give me relief. I have tried many other remedies, but have never found any better."

JOSEPH FRANKOWICK, 854 Tremont Ave., Detroit, Mich.

There is no remedy that will more quickly relieve any form of headache than

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

The best feature of this remarkable remedy is the fact that it does not derange the stomach or leave any disagreeable after-effects.

Druggists everywhere sell them. If first aid fails to benefit, your druggist will return your money.

STORIES FOR IDLE HOURS

HYGELA AT THE SOLITO

By O. HENRY

Copyright, 1907, by McClure Company

If you are knowing in the chronicles of the river you will recall to mind an event in the early nineties when, for a minute and sundry odd seconds, a champion and a "would be" faced each other on the alien side of an international river. So brief a conflict had rarely imposed upon the fair promise of true sport. The champion merely fluted his victim, turned his back upon him, remarking, "I know what I done to dat stuff," and extended an arm like a ship's mast for his glove to be removed.

Which accounts for a trainload of extremely disgusted gentlemen in an uproar of fancy vests and neckwear being spilled from their Pullmans in San Antonio in the early morning following the fight, which also partly accounts for the unhappy predicament in which "Cricket" McGuire found himself as he tumbled from his car and sat upon the depot platform, torn by a spasm of that hollow, racking cough so familiar to San Antonio ears. At that time, in the uncertain light of dawn, that way passed Curtis Ralldier, the Neuces county cattleman, May his shadow never measure under six feet two. The cattleman, out this early to catch the southbound for his ranch, stopped at the side of the distressed patron of sport and spoke in the kindly drawl of his ilk and region, "Got it pretty bad, bud?"

"Cricket" McGuire, ex-featherweight prizefighter, round, jockey, follower of the "ponies," all round sport and manipulator of the gum balls and walnut shells, looked up pugnaciously. "G'wan," he rapped, "telegraph pole. I didn't ring for yer."

Another paroxysm wrung him, and he leaned limply against a convenient baggage truck. Ralldier waited patiently, glancing around at the white hats, stout overcoats and big cigars thronging the platform. "You're from the north, ain't you, bud?" he asked. "Come down to see the fight?"

"Fight?" snapped McGuire. "Tussle-in-the-corner." "Tussle a hyprocrite in the corner." Handed him just one like a squirt of dose and he's asleep and no tankard needed in front of his residence. "Fight?" He rattled a bit, coughed and went on: "No more dead sure things for me. Put my last cent on and could already smell the sawdust in dat all night joint of Jimmy Delaney's on 'Tirty-seventh street. I was goin' to buy. And den—say, telegraph pole, what a gazabo a guy is to put his whole roll on one turn of the Sabotage!"

"You're plenty right," said the cattleman, "more specially when you lose. Son, you got up and light out for a hotel. You got a mighty bad cough."

"Lungs," said McGuire comprehensively. "I got it. The croaker says I'll come to time for six months longer—maybe a year if I hold my gale and wanted to settle down and take care of myself. Dat's why I speculated on dat 5 to 1, dollars—I had a foun-sand iron pelicans saved up. If I winned I was goin' to buy Delaney's cafe. Who'd a't thought dat stuff would take a nap in de foist round—say?"

Curtis Ralldier interrogated an enormous gold watch and laid his hand on McGuire's shoulder. "Come on, you're going down to my ranch,"

"FIGHT!" SNAPPED MCGUIRE. "TUSSE- IN-THE-CORNER."

"FIGHT!" snapped McGuire. "Tussle-in-the-corner." "Tussle a hyprocrite in the corner." Handed him just one like a squirt of dose and he's asleep and no tankard needed in front of his residence. "Fight?" He rattled a bit, coughed and went on: "No more dead sure things for me. Put my last cent on and could already smell the sawdust in dat all night joint of Jimmy Delaney's on 'Tirty-seventh street. I was goin' to buy. And den—say, telegraph pole, what a gazabo a guy is to put his whole roll on one turn of the Sabotage!"

"Money for what?" asked Ralldier, puzzled. Passengers on the southbound wondered at the confab of two such antipodes. McGuire was five feet one, with a countenance belonging to either Yokohama or Dublin. Bright, beady eyes, bony cheek and jaw, scarred, toughened, broken and rebuilt, indestructible, grisy, gladiatorial as a hornet, he was a type neither new nor unfamiliar. Ralldier represented the union of the west and south. Few accurate pictures of his kind have ever been made.

At Rincon, a hundred miles from San Antonio, they left the train for the stage. In this they traveled the thirty miles between the station and their destination.

"Well, here we are at home," said Ralldier cheerily. "This'll be your room in here. Any thing we got you ask for it." He led McGuire into the east room. The floor was bare and clean. White curtains waved in the gulf breeze through the open windows. A big willow rocker, two straight chairs, a long table covered with newspapers, pipes, tobacco, spurs and cartridges stood in the center. A wide, cool cot bed stood in a corner. McGuire spun a nickel.

"Tough! It was lye on the money, did ye? Well, you can frisk me if you want. Dats the last supper in the treasury. Who's goin' to pay?" The cattleman looked steadily from under his grizzly brows into the huckleberry optics of his guest. After a little he said simply: "I'll be much obliged to you, son. If you won't mention money any more. Folks I ask to be frisked by me."

"Doe, there's a young chap in that case. I'd like for you to look him over and see just how bad he is."

"How much was that dinner I just ate, Mr. Ralldier?" said the doctor, shrilly, looking over his spectacles. Ralldier returned the money to his pocket. The doctor entered McGuire's room, and the cattleman waited, ready to reproach himself in the event the verdict should be unfavorable.

In ten minutes the doctor came briskly out. "Your man," he said promptly, "is as sound as a new dollar. His lungs are better than mine. Respiration, temperature and pulse normal. Chest expansion four inches. Not a sign of weakness anywhere. Of course I didn't examine for the bacillus, but if it's there, you can put my name to the diagnosis."

The branding season was at hand, and the next morning Ross Hargis, foreman of the outfit, was mustering his force of some twenty-five men at the ranch ready to start for the San Carlos range, where the work was to begin. By 6 o'clock the horses were all saddled, the grub wagon ready and the cowpunchers were swinging themselves upon their mounts, when Ralldier bade them wait. He walked to McGuire's room and threw open the door. McGuire was smoking.

"Get up," said the cattleman, and his voice was clear and brassy. "How's that?" asked McGuire, a little startled.

"Get up and dress. I can stand a rattlesnake, but I hate a liar." He caught McGuire by the neck and stood him on the floor.

"Say, friend," cried McGuire wildly, "are you hushouse? I'm sick as a dog. I'll croak if I get to bustle. What've I done to yer?" he began his chronic whine. "I never asked yer to—"

"Put on your clothes," called Ralldier. McGuire tumbled into his clothes.

"Take this man," said Ralldier to Ross Hargis. "and put him to work. Make him work hard, sleep hard and eat hard. You boys know I done what I could for him, and he was welcome. Yesterday the best doctor in San Antonio examined him and says he's got the cure. He's a burr and the constitution of a steer."

"Aw," said McGuire, looking intently at Ralldier with a peculiar expression. "The croaker said I was all right, didn't he? Said I was fakin', did he? You put him on to me. You thought I wasn't sick. You said I was a liar. Say, friend, I talked rough, I know, but I didn't mean none of it. If you felt like I did—aw! I forgot—I ain't sick, the croaker says. Well, friend, now I'll go work for yer. Here's where you play even."

He sprang into the saddle easily as a bird, got the quirt from the horn and gave his pony a slash with it. "Cricket," who once brought in Good Boy by a neck at Hawthorne—and a 10 to 1 shot—had his foot in the stirrups again. McGuire led the cavalcade, and they dashed away for San Carlos, and the cowpunchers gave a yell of applause as they closed in behind him.

But in less than a mile he had lagged to the rear and was last man when they struck the patch of high chaparral below the horse pens. He held a clump of this he drew rein and held a handkerchief to his mouth. He took it away drenched with bright arterial blood and threw it carefully into a clump of prickly pear. Then he alighted with his quirt again, gasping, "Aw!" to his astonished pony and galloped after the gang. That night Ralldier received a message from his old home in Alabama that there had been a death in the family. An estate was to divide, and they called for him to come. It was two months before he returned. When he arrived at the ranch house he found it well nigh deserted save for Ylarlo. "By the way," said Ralldier, suddenly remembering, "that fellow I sent over with them—McGuire—is he working yet?"

"I do not know," said Ylarlo, "but I think that fellow McGuire he dead long ago."

"Dead?" said Ralldier. "What you talking about?"

"Verree sick fellow, McGuire," replied Ylarlo, with a shrug of his shoulder. "I think he no live one, two months when he go away."

"Shucks!" said Ralldier. "He humbugged you, too, did he? The doctor examined him, with a shrug of his shoulder. 'I think he no live one, two months when he go away.'"

"That doctor," said Ylarlo, smiling, "he tell you so? That doctor no see McGuire."

"Try a little horseback riding, now. There's a gentle pony?"

"What're I done to yer?" screamed McGuire. "Did I ever double cross yer? Did I ask you to bring me here? Drive me out to yer camp if you want or strike a knife in me and save trouble. Ride! I couldn't sidestep a jab from a five-year-old kid. That's what your ranch has done for me!"

It was Chad Murchison, a cowpuncher from the Circle Bar outfit, who first suggested that McGuire's illness was fraudulent.

"His arm," said Chad. "Is harder'n a diamond. He interposed me to what he called a sore perplexus punch, and 'twas like bel'n' kicked twice by a mustang. He's playin' it low down on you, Curd. He do it no sicker's I am."

One day about two men drove up to the ranch, alighted, hitched and came in to dinner, standing and general invitations being the custom of the country. One of them was a great San Antonio doctor, whose costly services had been engaged by a wealthy cowboy who had been laid low by an accidental fall. He was now being driven to the station to take the train back to town. After dinner Ralldier took him aside, pushed a twenty dollar bill against his hand and said:

"Doe, there's a young chap in that case. I'd like for you to look him over and see just how bad he is."

"How much was that dinner I just ate, Mr. Ralldier?" said the doctor, shrilly, looking over his spectacles. Ralldier returned the money to his pocket. The doctor entered McGuire's room, and the cattleman waited, ready to reproach himself in the event the verdict should be unfavorable.

Ralldier looked wonderingly toward Ross Hargis.

"That cussed little runt," remarked Ross tenderly. "Is the jodan-rin' hustler and the hardest hitter in anybody's cow camp."

Among other uncertainties is being remembered in a will.

We feel sorry for a lazy man who lives in a hilly country. Not every splinter is sorry.

NOTICE

Any lady or gentleman out of employment would do well to call on the Brown Brothers' Company, Continental Nurseries, of Rochester, N. Y., as they have informed us they desire a representative in this section. They have been in business twenty-five years and refer to a large business firm or bank as to their standing. The many civic improvement clubs and horticultural publications are creating a large demand for the goods they handle, and as they grow all their own stock, they are prepared to guarantee it to be strictly first-class in every respect.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS

Under a ruling of the Post Office Department, at Washington, which went into effect on January 1st, 1908, publishers of weekly newspapers are not permitted to extend credit to a subscriber for a longer period than one year. Names of subscribers who have not paid their subscription for a period of one year or more must be taken off the list or the publisher is liable to a penalty.

We are therefore sending out bills to all subscribers who owe a year or more, and have instructed our collector, Edwin Kirk, to call this ruling to the attention of those from whom he collects.

Prompt settlement is urged, or accounts must be placed in the hands of attorneys. We have no choice in this matter as much as we would be willing to favor certain cases. The Spirit must comply with this ruling of the United States Government.

FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE ITS installation the gas supply was cut off for about three hours on Thursday morning.

The failure of the gas came at a busy time in the Spirit office and stopped our typesetting machine completely. Some people will look in vain for items they expected to see in this issue, because Thursday morning's product amounted to practically nothing.

It is just as if a housewife had her dinner half cooked when the fuel supply failed. The resulting meal, besides being late, could hardly be satisfactory to the cook or the diners. Understand our feelings?

AFTER TALKING FOR MONTHS the United States Senate last Saturday passed the Canadian Reciprocity bill, by a vote of 53 to 27. Democratic support enabled President Taft to get this measure through. Of the affirmative votes the Democrats contributed 32, the Republicans but 21.

As the Spirit has said before this measure is expected to ultimately prove beneficial to both contracting parties. So far as this locality is concerned its results will not be of a character to be especially noticeable. Local farmers, who have grave fears of loss on account of the bill, are unnecessarily alarmed. The man who farms with an eye to the local market, not on Chicago or Liverpool, need have no fears.

Common sense and progressive ideas are as useful in planning farm work as elsewhere.

Glenside and Edge Hill

Miss Louise Powers, of Remlin, entertained friends at her home on Sunday last.

Miss Anna Meredith, of Willow Grove, spent the week in Bridgeport, Conn.

The recent rains and application of oil have placed the streets of our town in excellent condition.

Miss Ella Munn of Bickley avenue and Waverly road is spending the week at Portland, Maine.

Harry C. Wenger, of Willow Grove, has purchased a new demonstration power automobile and a very classy car.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Austin, of Meno avenue below Keswick avenue, are spending the month at Atlantic City, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Wilson, of Lismore avenue, entertained relatives from West Philadelphia, on Sunday last.

E. E. Wilson and family, of Cliveden avenue, are spending the week near Harrisburg, Pa., as the guests of relatives.

Mrs. E. Weber, of Mt. Carmel avenue, spent Wednesday afternoon as the guest of Mrs. Edward Glitz, of Wyncote.

Henry Specht, Jr., has started the construction of a modern house for George N. Wright on Meno avenue, below Woodlyn avenue.

Miss Katherine Hamel, of Jenkintown, has been spending the last week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conkly, of Edge Hill road.

Charles Samaan will shortly begin the erection of a fine stone and frame dwelling on Oakdale avenue opposite Stanley avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Johnson, of Mt. Carmel avenue have been enjoying the mountains at Bethlehem, New Hampshire, the last three weeks.

John Wagner, of Yardley, Pa., has rented the property of Frank P. Blake, of Wilson street. The tenant was secured by Walter H. Wilson for William P. Albrecht, agent.

We understand that the borough question is again disturbing some of our citizens, but I guess that we will still continue with being a First Class Township which seems to answer very well at present.

Mrs. Harry Bach, of Lynnwood avenue, was taken with an attack of apoplexy on Saturday morning and was operated upon Saturday afternoon at the Germantown hospital. At present writing she is doing very well.

Glenside and Edge Hill. An interesting game of ball at Glenside last Saturday afternoon which was won by the Glenside team. The score of 9 to 3. Graham was in the box for Glenside and pitched a fine game of his ball. He kept the Glenside team well scattered. Graham also hit the ball well and knocked in two of Glenside's runs. Perkins secured a very fine game and got 1 run in the 7th and 1 run in the 9th, although Graham was called out on a close defense. The base which was hit by Graham resulted in a larger score had he allowed the base. Worthington feated the Glenside team in a game which he had a 4 to 3 lead. Perkins got a long three base hit in the 8th.

BUSTLETON

In order to increase the interest in the Bustleton school, the following items that come to your attention.

Leroy Field is visiting Aaron Ramson and family.

Miss Grace Young is recovering from an attack of appendicitis.

Miss Anna Wynkoop is learning to operate at the Bethayres exchange.

John Sheldine has the contract for repairing several bridges throughout the township.

Quite a number of our people attended Simpson's Grove camp meeting on Sunday last.

Mrs. Clarence Prael and children, of Willow Grove, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Wagner.

The Star school of the Methodist church will picnic at Willow Grove Park on Saturday, July 29th.

The Huntington Valley Presbyterian-Baptist school will hold its picnic at Willow Grove Park on Thursday, August 3rd.

Several of our people enjoyed the races at Warminster on Saturday last, and were much delighted to see Henry Docking's "Gypsy Girl" win the race in the 2:40 class, time 2:35.

Services as usual in the Huntington Valley Presbyterian church on next Sunday morning at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m., at which services the pulpit will be occupied by Dr. James Warner, in the absence of Mr. M. Welch, who is enjoying his vacation.

Charles VanCleave was picked up in an unconscious condition in front of Leedom's mill on Monday evening, and taken home, and it was rumored that he had died. Much to the astonishment of the people, Mr. VanCleave was seen coming down the street on Tuesday morning. He suffered no attack on Tuesday in Prior's store and was taken home, but at this writing he is "much alive."

Quite a few of our girls are away on their vacations.

Miss Emma Wagner spent the week end at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Harry Wagner, who has been very sick, is slowly recovering.

Mrs. Fred Fletcher and family spent Sunday with her mother in Philadelphia.

A meeting of the fire company was held in Clayton on Tuesday evening. The solicitors report contributions coming in slowly. The citizens of the town should contribute more to this cause, as a fire company and an apparatus is needed badly. We have no protection at all in case of a fire.

DAVISVILLE AND SOUTHAMPTON

THE HELLVER FIRE.

July 25th, 1911
Messrs. President and fellow members
Southampton Fire Co. No. 1.

Having read letter from Ex-Chief Shaefer, published in the Public Spirit, we feel it incumbent upon us to report to this company the results of our investigation.

Mr. O. M. Myer, Chief, at the Hellver fire.

The first order issued was to take the hose to end of building, but found the fire from there (as Ex-Chief Shaefer says we should have done) and as soon as hose was laid we had endeavoring to go to the extreme of elevating the hose to the level of the grape arbor on rear end of building, but found the hose too short. We were then ordered to take the line up to second floor front, and fight the fire from there, but again we were unsuccessful on account of insufficient hose and formation of building.

We found that the fire, finding that part of the roof to be torn off, and fight it from there, but found that very close to two-thirds of the building was saved, so conclusively that the chief not to have been successful in extinguishing the flames.

We feel that a record of condemnation, too much praise cannot be given Chief Myer for the creditable way in which he led his men and apparatus at the Hellver fire, and we take this means of so expressing ourselves to this company.

Respectfully,
R. MONROE STOUT,
WILLIAM L. NOB,
Houses of the Water Engine.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hoffman entertained two automobile parties last week.

Mrs. William Sinkler and family have returned from a stay in Maryland.

This Saturday Davisville Baptist church will picnic at Willow Grove Park.

Mrs. L. E. Hoffman has left for a week's trip to Brady Lake and Cleveland.

The life and drum corps played at the festival at the camp of the Cheltenham Cadets, on Wednesday evening well at present.

L. Johnson, P. Boda, Alfred Traford, Alfred Harding and A. Cornell have been camping this week on the Williams farm.

The Pinocchio club was entertained by Mrs. H. V. Hogeboom on Friday last.

Charles Anderson, of Willow Grove, August 4, at Willow Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McMullin, Mr. and Mrs. William Sinkler, Mr. and Mrs. Parker D. Shaw, of Willow Grove, will camp on the Nesheany farm this Saturday until Monday.

Rev. J. T. Gray, pastor of Cheltenham Cadets, held divine service at the camp in Davisville, assisted by Pastor W. Anderson, of the Davisville Baptist church, and a large number attended and enjoyed the speeches.

Rev. A. W. Anderson, of the Davisville Baptist church, is expected to surprise in the form of a purse from the Aid Society, with amount sufficient to cover his expenses attending the annual convention of the World's Alliance in Philadelphia last month. He is pleased to accept the gift, as the appreciation of his congregation.

"ADVERTISING IN THE SPIRIT PAYS"

The PUBLIC SPIRIT of Hathor, Pa. is the best paper in which to advertise a public sale of personal property. Why the SPIRIT? Because of its wide circulation among the well-to-do class who have money with which to buy. It is not only read by all the people in a wide scope of country with Hathor as a centre, but it goes to dealers in Furniture, Germantown and elsewhere. If you want to reach people who attend sales, advertise in the SPIRIT.

The SPIRIT job department turns out attractive posters, on good paper, with catchy display and cuts, at moderate prices, for prompt work.

We will make an advance announcement of the date, place and character of coming sales under this head, if we are given both the poster printing and the sale is advertised in our paper. In all other cases the charges for advance announcements will be 50 cents.

HARBOR HOME HAPPENINGS

FIRE ENGINE TEST.

The Enterprise Fire Company gave a test of their steam fire engine on Thursday night. The engine had not been used since last October and the purpose of the test was to find out if it was in working condition. The engine was run down to Harborside and along side of the mill and the fire started. Steam was readily gotten out and the engine threw a stream from 60 to 75 feet in the air, easily over the mill and twice as high as most of the buildings throughout the borough. When Harborside got its new chemical automobile apparatus in use in connection with this steam engine the fire fighting machinery of the borough will be on a par with the best city in the country. When alarm sounds the chemical automobile will respond first and the chemical tanks exhausted. While this is being done the steam engine will be put in service, and when the fire is not put out by the chemicals, the steam engine will be able to take care of it.

LETTER FROM MRS. JARRETT

She Tells of Pacific Slope Points Visited—Weather Mostly Fine—Scenery Grand.

Portland, Oregon, July 18, 1911
To "The Public Spirit":—

On arriving here this morning found a number of letters and a copy of the "Spirit" for July 8, awaiting us. I see by the paper that only Mrs. Harvey Jarrett and daughter are off on this tour. Mr. Howard Jarrett is very much in evidence also, and is enjoying the trip as much as any one.

From the day of starting, July 23
the heat was intense until our arrival at the Grand Canyon of Arizona on Friday, July 7th. Here we found cool breezes, and the most sublime spectacle it is possible to imagine. All had seen pictures of the canyon, but only one who has not seen it can realize the grandeur of the place. We saw it at sunrise, noon and sunset. All were beautiful especially the sunset. From this time on until to-day on our arrival at Portland, we have been delightfully cool, being obliged to wear coats on every drive or trolley ride.
The climate of California is certainly delightful, though it might be monotonous to Eastern people.

We spent our first Sunday at Redlands and Riverside. Monday found us at Los Angeles. Here we met Miss Elsinore Giddings, who accompanied us to Catalina Islands. On the evening of 10th at Lankershim hotel we had a call from Mr. and Mrs. Gilford, well known to Hatboro people.
While at Los Angeles, visited Pan-dena, Ostreich Farm and Long Beach.
Spent one day at Potter hotel and Santa Barbara. Had carriage ride around city; a fine beach here, but nothing compared to Atlantic City.
Spent one night and day at Del Monte;
fine grounds and drive.

Stopped at Pasa Robles, Hot Springs, drank sulphur water, took lunch and dinner at Hotel Vendome, San Jose.
Saw Lick Observatory. Reached San Francisco Saturday, July 15th. Saw light house and Golden Gate in sight seeing trolley, also went to Oakland and Berkeley, where trolley gives fine view of bay and city.

Had a call at Palace Hotel from Mr. and Mrs. Altee Saurman, well known at Johnsville. Had auto ride through the park on Saturday afternoon. Very cool in San Francisco, but damp, although it does not rain.
Have had no need of umbrella since starting. We will spend the next two days in Portland, where we will start for Yellowstone Park. It is very warm in Portland to-day, though it is said to be somewhat cooler than yesterday.
17th, when it was 105 degrees. On our way here from San Francisco we came Shasta Route. Had grand view of Mt. Shasta for many hours and under several conditions, 1st hazy, 2nd thunderstorm, and 3rd bright sunshine. We are enjoying every minute and find Gillespie & Kinpott Co. entirely satisfactory. S. H. JARRETT.

Mrs. T. E. Paxson left this week for a stay at Ocean Grove, N. J.

Mrs. Laura Leidy was this week confined to her home by illness.

New floors have been placed in the Catholic chapel on Montgomery avenue.

Mrs. Banks Selner, of Altoona, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Yorkes.

Mrs. Alice Palmer, who is confined at the St. Luke's hospital, is not so well at this writing.

The recent rains have greatly benefited vegetation. Gardens and lawns show the effects of the showers.

Mrs. Harry Christensen, of Philadelphia, was recently the guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Davis.

Wilmer E. Leddon has this week enjoyed a vacation from his duties as teller of the Hatboro National Bank.

The annual statement of Hatboro school board will be found in another column. It is published for the information of taxpayers.

The Wesley Brotherhood, of the M. E. church was entertained at the home of Earl Fillman, Halliwell, on Wednesday evening.

John Lindsay has improved the appearance of the Loller Academy lot fronting on Morham road, by cutting away the briars and bushes.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Rice and child, of New York City, visited Hat-boro on Tuesday. Mr. Rice lived in Hatboro about 18 years ago and went to school at Loller Academy.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Pearson and children, Willard and Mildred, of Dolington, also Mrs. Annie Chinlick, of Trenton, N. J., were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Jennie Walton, of Montgomery avenue.

Engard Campbell, who has been ill with typhoid fever, is now able to be out.

Miss Angie Jones, of Byberry avenue, has been spending some time at Cape May, N. J.

Leslie Barnes and son, Channing, spent Sunday at Flourtown, visiting Mr. Barnes' sister.

Edward Evanson and family, of Tioga, spent Sunday last with James Evans and family.

Mrs. Harvey Green, of Willow Grove, who has been seriously ill, was recently calling on friends in the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Randall and son, Clifford, of Newtown, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Buckman and family.

The Baptist church held no services,
except Sunday school, last Sabbath,
as joined with the Methodists in worship. Rev. Colby was at Atlantic City.
Elias Krewson is making some repairs to the interior of his house at the corner of Depot street and By-berry avenue. George Kotz will occupy the house.

The Sunday school of the Baptist church, will hold their annual picnic on Wednesday, August 2nd, in Danrah's woods, along the Neshaunty, at Hartsville. All members and friends of the school are invited.

Hatboro's mid afternoon mail was much delayed on Tuesday. On inquiry as to the cause it was learned that the mailmen of a passenger locomotive at the entrance to the train shed of the Reading Terminal in Philadelphia, at noon caused a tie up in traffic for several hours, and the delay of hundreds of passengers. No one was hurt.

Walter Rothwell has awarded the contract for the erection of a house on Moreland avenue, adjoining his present residence, to William R. Rapp, of Arlington. The house will be 28x32 feet, two and a half stories. It will contain modern conveniences. The house was laid out on Wednesday and its erection will be pushed rapidly.

William R. Gaubert, father of Mrs.
S. L. Larose, of this borough, died on Saturday last, at his home in Philadelphia, aged 79 years. He was one of the oldest iron manufacturers in the State. His death was due to heart failure following an attack of indigestion. Mr. Gaubert was a widower for seven years, and is survived by three daughters, Miss M. A. Gaubert, Mrs.
J. Lawton Kendrick and Mrs. S. B.
Larzelere. The funeral was held on Wednesday from his home at 1012 W.
Lehigh avenue, internment at Cedar hill cemetery. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. John B. Laird, pastor of the First Presbyterian church,
of Frankford, of which church Mr.
Gaubert was a trustee for twenty-five years.

TROTTLING AT WARMINSTER

Four Good Races Draw Large Crowds.

The largest crowd of the season gathered at the Warminster track last Saturday to witness the harness races given by the Warminster Driving Club. Considerable interest was centered on the free-for-all event in which the Newtown pacer, Easter Boy, was pitted against the local steed, Happy Jack. In the first heat Easter Boy had an easy race, finishing in a jog after Happy Jack made a standstill break at the three-quarter pole.

The second heat was a race and Happy Jack made a game effort through the stretch to a break a few feet from the wire.

Glady Girl, a daughter of Insanity, showed considerable class in the 2-2-2 mixed event and won the third heat due to clever driving. Terry T. practically had a walk over in his event and won as pleased. J. O. Colquhoun showed the way home in two heats with his bay gelding, Harvester, after meeting with an accident in the first heat.

BASE BALL

NORTH PENN. LEAGUE.

Ambler defeated Lansdale in one of the best played games of the season.
score 9 to 0. Flavell's home run and Simpson's pitching were the features.
Quakertown knocked out Doylestown's chances for first place by defeating them by the score of 5 to 1.

Glenade, as usual, met defeat at the hands of the Perkasie boys, score 5 to 3. Graham pitched for Glenade and Hallman did better duty.

TWIN COUNTY LEAGUE.

Telford swamped Souderton in a fast game by the score of 18 to 2.

Susquehanna of Lansdale, won from North Wales, 6 to 4.

Ambler won from Sellersville, 3 to 1.

BUCKS COUNTY LEAGUE.

Newtown defeated Morrisville by the score of 4 to 3. Goe and Hillborn made home runs. The attendance was large and the excitement ran high.

In a hard-fought game New Hope won from the American Bridge 11 to 10. Both clubs batted hard for victory.

OTHER GAMES.

The Cheltenham boys won from the Sutton A. A. in a very interesting game. Score 4 to 3.

The first settler of the Chapman family in America was John Chapman, who located at what is now Wrights-town, Bucks county, in 1684. Henry Chapman, whose portrait is in the County Court house at Doylestown, was one of the descendants.

Of Interest To Farmers

HOW TO GROW ALFALFA

Greatest Cattle Food That Can be Raised on Farm.

Of all the clover, as a stock food alfalfa ranks the highest. It has been shown, by analysis, that it is a more nearly balanced ration and one more able to take the place of grain than most other green foods. Another thing in its favor is its permanence. The conditions under which alfalfa must be started differ from that of the common clover. These conditions call for study and investigation by the novice, or failure is apt to result. It will not do to sow it, as is the practice with common clover, on the hard surface with wheat or rye that was sown the previous fall. It is important that there be a good mellow seed-bed made for it. The young plants are tender and consequently early sowing is likely to result in being killed by late frosts.

Spring barley is recommended as a nurse crop for alfalfa, as it ripens early and does not shade the ground as densely as does oats. The latter, however, will do fairly well, but only half a bushel, or three pecks, should be sown to the acre, the oats to be cut for hay before it ripens.

It is best in sowing clover of any kind with oats or barley that the seed be drilled in, as the space between the drilled rows of grain will allow the sun to shine in and the young clover plants will not be so shaded and spindling as with broadcast sowing of the grain.

Too much care cannot be given in the preparation of the seed-bed. It need not necessarily be deep, but perfectly mellow for two or three inches at the surface; and this kind of a seed-bed pays for the grain crop as well as making a good place for the clover or alfalfa seed. No crop on the farm responds to a thorough preparation of the seed-bed so liberally as oats or spring grain.

A larger amount of seed should be used of alfalfa than of the common clover, as the seed is larger, and the rule generally is one peck to the acre, but some use 20 pounds or a bushel to three acres. Alfalfa succeeds best on what is known as sugar-tree land, and to get a good start to expect a profitable crop it should be sown on rich land or well fertilized or manured, as it is not a crop for poor land, and as if a good stand is obtained, it is almost permanent, like blue grass, one can afford to plant liberally and prepare thoroughly to get a perfect stand and an early strong growth of it.

Alfalfa will make four cuttings in a year, and on good soil will average ten of cured hay at each cutting, and this hay, as already intimated, is nearly the equivalent of grain when fed to cattle.

ROAD PETITIONS DEFECTIVE

State Pays Only Half Under Main Highway Law.

The counties, townships and borough which petitioned State aid for road construction under the terms of the 1903 and 1905 acts have had their requests returned by the State Highway Department. This is owing to the fact that the Sproul main highway bill provides for a different basis of State aid.

By the old law the State paid three-fourths of the cost of roads, the county being liable for one-eighth and the interested township or borough for a similar amount. By the new law the State pays but half, and as the petitions do not conform to new regulations, they cannot apply to roads under the act of 1911.

It is expected that a number of them will be redrawn and returned to the Highway Commissioners, as the local districts in many cases are not on main highways.

Jubilee at Chestnut Hill Park.

What will unquestionably be one of the biggest events of the season in the way of outings is scheduled to take place at Chestnut Hill Park on August 2. Then the annual picnic of the grocers of Philadelphia and suburbs will be held under the auspices of the Retail Grocers' Association of Philadelphia, and a gala time is promised to all who participate.

ROOSTER OSLERISM.

Certain poultry philosophers after solemn consideration have decreed that crows and cacklers should be ordered on their third birthday; that thereafter they are fit for breeding and laying.

We are not here to decide "How old is Ann?" but many will laugh at this rooster eggs-egression. For instance, Dr. Nathan Sanborns of Holden, Mass., will produce the record of his nine-year-old Buff Dotter hen that laid 1,000 eggs in her first seven years and in her fourth year raised fifty-three chicks hatched from her own eggs. And J. H. C. Winston,

BIG BILL, EIGHT YEARS OLD.

Hampden Sidney, Va., will make affidavit that his seven-year-old Rhode Island hen Miana from Nov. 1, 1903, to Dec. 19, 1910, laid 1,004 eggs, hatched twelve times and in her seventh season hatched two broods of chicks.

And Big Bill, the old cock in the picture, eight years old, will crow a deaf and produce seven generations of cock-squaddies to prove that there is no arbitrary rule whereby a rooster's usefulness may be said to end on a fixed date.

Our English cousins will back this up by producing the record of the old White Game, the Ghost, which at twenty years was mated and begetting offspring.

Big Biddy, too, unlike human hens, will own up to her age and show a

BEAUTIFUL BIDDY, SEVEN YEARS OLD, record of over 100 eggs a year for seven years and her great-great-great-grandchildren will cackle that it's all true.

The length of usefulness of fowls depends on ancestry, care, breeding, manner of hatching and rearing. Fowls raised in a nature pay best and longest. Chickens hatched and brooded artificially and forced for egg production soon lose vitality. Before the end of the second year they often do not pay a profit and should go to the cook pot quick.

DON'TS.
Don't scold fowls for city market. Lower price.

Don't show birds simply to lick some other fellow. You are apt to get licked. Then some one will follow, "I told you so."

Don't give too many folks a piece of your mind. You may have none left for yourself.

Don't shoot off your mouth. A tongue that bangs off sass and slang oft is an awful boomerang.

Don't "let bygones be bygones."

when you owe for a newspaper. If you must give account for every idle word you say you'll also have to toe the scratch for subs you do not pay.

Don't breed from squatty turkeys if you want big, strong points. Inferior stock will breed you lots of jobs. Don't let hens drink from cow tracks in the barnyard. The hygienic hen and the healthy cow, the pure food sheep and the sanitary sow aren't found where all is smelly and rot, but thrive on a clean, inviting spot.

Don't let the pigeons spoil the barn roof. Pigeons in a loft fly pay more than those that sleet fly.

Don't raise broilers unless you are near a good broiler market. Where millionaires their broodie blow is where the broilers ought to go.

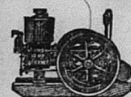

After a woman has been a widow about so long, she says: "Well, I used to say I'd never marry again, but I don't know."

WILL TEST LEGALITY OF DUMPING MILK IN SEWER

The Interstate Milk Producers' Association, meeting in special session at the Parkway Building, Philadelphia, on Wednesday, severely denounced the health authorities of that city for their recent destruction of quantities of milk arriving in the city at a temperature of more than 60 degrees, and determined to seek an injunction against such destruction in the future. The association is composed of 300 farmers and dairymen who live in Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland and supply a large part of the milk to the Philadelphia market.

It was generally admitted that Doctor Neff had the legal right to prevent the sale in Philadelphia of milk exceeding 60 degrees in temperature, but that his destruction of it by pouring it down the sewers was wholly unwarranted and arbitrarily illegal. The producers claim that if the milk cannot be sold in Philadelphia they should be allowed the option of having it returned to them, as it may often still be of value for butter making, or, if in poor condition, may still have considerable value as a food for the horses.

The question of demanding refrigeration cars on the Reading Railway, and taking legal action against the company to compel the furnishing of such cars, is also under consideration.

THREE MAN OUT OF SALOON

Was Severely Injured by Striking Post—Assault is Held.

After being thrown out of a saloon and seriously injured, Jacob Jansen, aged 50 years, a stone mason, of Green lane, Lamont, was left to lie in the road unattended for hours until he was revived and taken to a stable. He was later taken to the Jewish hospital, where it was found that he is suffering from severe internal injuries.

Jansen went into the saloon of Thomas Curley, at York road and City Line, and is said to have got into a quarrel with the bartender, John Hagerty. Hagerty, the police say, leaped over the bar and threw Jansen out of the saloon against a hitching post, severely injuring Jansen's stomach and rendering him unconscious.

Apparently believing that Jansen was drunk, he was left on the roadside, until he regained consciousness.

Lee, a special policeman of the Branchtown station, arrested Hagerty, and he was held in $800 bail by Magistrate Wrigley for a further hearing August 1, to await the result of Jansen's injuries.

DR. DAVID H. LOVEJOY DEAD.

Episcopal Minister and Physician Dies at Roslyn Home.

The Rev. David H. Lovejoy, M. D., died last Tuesday night at his home in Roslyn, aged 72 years. He was a native of New York, and came to Philadelphia in 1875, 15 years after his graduation from the University of Michigan, where he received his degree of medicine.

Mr. Lovejoy was a chaplain of the Episcopal hospital for a number of years, and while at the institution conducted a mission, which in time grew into St. Luke's Episcopal church, one of the flourishing up-town parishes. For several years he was rector of St. Peter's church, in West, but failing health obliged him to relinquish active service in the ministry. He was a prominent Mason and for years was active in St. John's Commandery. He was survived by a widow and two children.

100 PIGEONS BURN IN STABLE.

A fire shortly before midnight last Tuesday night destroyed a two-story frame stable and wagon shed, owned by Thomas Emmes, of 246 East Haines street, Germantown, together with ten wagons. Nearly 100 pigeons in the loft of the stable were burned to death. Five horses were taken to safety by neighbors.

TO ORGANIZE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

By the advice and consent, and on the authority of the Rev. Frank P. Parkin, D. D., District Superintendent of the Central District of the Philadelphia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, a Sunday school will be organized in the Scottsville M. E. church on Sunday afternoon next, July 30th, at 2:30 o'clock. All persons in that vicinity, children and adults, favorable to such a project, are cordially invited to be present.

AUTOMOBILE ABLAZE.

FIREMEN TO THE RESCUE.

An automobile belonging to Mr. Strintz, and carrying license number 2784, caught fire about 5:30 p. m. on Willow Grove avenue, near Wyndmoor, on Tuesday. The Edge Hill Fire Company was notified and responded quickly, put out the blaze and towed the wrecked machine back to Edge Hill.

Love is never too blind to distinguish the dollar mark.

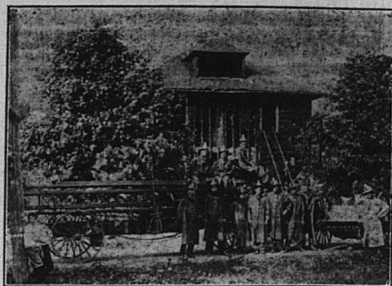

A love match is apt to flicker out before the winds of adversity.

It's a cowardly coin that turns tail when you call heads.

Even the people who always expect the worst to happen may sometimes be disappointed.

Nine tailors can't make a gentleman; but they can make a good enough imitation of one to "pass."

ABINGTON.

BARRETT HOUSE AND FIRE CO.

The above picture shows the house belonging to Charles Barrett, of Guernsey avenue, Abington, as it appeared from the effects of the fire, early last Friday morning. The house, which is in course of erection, was discovered on fire shortly after midnight, and would have been a total loss had not the prompt action of the Abington Fire Company saved it, with a loss of about $1400, which has been paid by an insurance Company. The photograph shows the Abington Fire Company at the scene of the fire. It was taken by Chief G. S. Lever, who is an experienced amateur photographer.

POLICE NEWS.

John Wright, colored, no home, was arrested by Sergeant Leary, on Saturday night, about half past eleven. The man was found prowling around a residence along the York road and claimed that he was only begging for money. At the hearing before Squire Williams he was held for a further hearing on Friday night.

Owen Dorsey, who gave his home as Philadelphia, was arrested by Officer Messer at Bethlehem, on Tuesday night. Dorsey, who is a large, powerful man, had been scaring the women folk in the vicinity of Rydal, where he demanded food. He gave his age as 62 years old. He was given a hearing before Squire Williams on Thursday night.

James Fox found a man in Lambert's woods on Wednesday. He noticed a man, who brought the man to the lock-up. He gave his name as James Balderston, of Trenton. He was deaf and dumb and was suffering so with rheumatism that he could scarcely walk. He was 35 years old. At the hearing before Squire Williams, a charge of vagrancy was placed against the man and he was given a hearing on Friday night.

Edmond and Paul Thompson, two colored lads, of Crestmont, were given a hearing on Tuesday night before Squire Williams. The boys had been accused of stealing brass journals and grease cups from the machinery of the Home brick works at Roslyn. The boys claim that an Italian junk dealer had put them into the scheme. The boys were held for their appearance before the juvenile court at Norristown. The junk dealer, implicated by the boys was arrested by Officer Messer and gave his name as Edward Penico. He was charged with receiving stolen goods and purchasing junk from minors. He claimed that he never told the boys to steal and knew nothing as to where they had gotten the junk purchased from them. Squire Williams held him under $1000 bail for his appearance at court. The bail was furnished.

Much preparation has been made by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Abington Fire Company for their bread and cake sale this Saturday afternoon and evening to take place in the gymnasium on the York road, opposite Horace avenue.
